

Kettler Kapers

By IEO CUNNINGHAM, Lomita 232-J

The roof is settling slowly back onto its supports now that the children, if they are like mine they're wild Indians, have gone back to school. Once again we have time to collect thoughts and look ahead to the coming year as active room mothers and PTA workers. . . first thing on the schedule is the paper drive at Torrance Elementary Tuesday, Sept. 30 . . . only 12 days off. We've got some papers saved from this summer, how about you? and your neighbor? You'll probably be glad to get rid of those bothersome bundles.

While we are on the school subject, I hear that the mothers over in the new tract are quite unhappy about the fact that the bus stop has been changed from 235th St. and Palena Ave. to Walnut and Schilling Ct. The new stop, though more convenient, is across from an oil well that is most enticing to the boys, but can prove dangerous. Wonder if the school officials realized this when they mapped out the stops?

How fast little girls grow up! Little Miss Ingrid Kathleen, daughter of Henry and Kitty Walsberg, of 1833 Reynosa Dr. recently reached the ripe old age of six . . . and besides that, she's a first-grader this year! To make her natal day a special one for her, she shared her prettily decorated heart-shaped cake with sister Midgie, and Dan and Jorie Cunningham. Of course there was ice cream to go with it and favors for everyone. Later in the evening, the rest of the Cunningham tribe joined the Walsbergs for dinner and the evening.

Birthdays are always more fun when shared, so Carol Ann Winklebauer's was made just a little nicer because she shared honors at a party with John Wilson on their mutual fifth birthdays. The party was held in the back yard of the E. V. Winklebauer home on Martha St. About 30 of their playmates and friends came to wish them many happy returns of the day and to share with them the sandwiches, Jello, punch and birthday cupcakes, each with its own candle. Because of the range in ages, the children were allowed free play, but each was given a sucker and a colored balloon.

Finding out that Arizona has something to offer besides the heat and desolation she had remembered as a child, Dell Walls and hubby Jess, along with kiddies Pat and Jerry, were pleasantly surprised on their recent trip to Prescott, Ariz. The trip was made to visit Dell's father and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenard Conway, and grand parents Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Conway. Dell hadn't seen her father for three years and her grandparents for nine, so they had a time realizing that Dell had grown up and has a family of her own now. While there, they went on a sightseeing jaunt to Oak Creek Canyon and Jerome, the mining town that is slowly slipping down the hill.

Good news from over Santa Fe St. way . . . talked to Mrs. Elliott the other day and she

Open House Set As Psychology School Sunday

"Adventure in Self-Discovery" is the theme of the nine days of "open house" and "orientation week" which will mark the beginning of the fall term of the David Seabury School of Psychology, 920 South Grand View, Los Angeles.

Participating in the program are Dorcas Palmer, Paul Kurtz, Bernice Gorman and John Williams, who conducted a marriage clinic in Torrance last spring. Sunday, Sept. 21, at 11 a.m., the program features a symposium with Dr. David Seabury and Dorcas Palmer discussing the question, "Are Women More Spiritual Than Men?" Beginning Monday, Sept. 22, the public will be given an insight into the various classes, which are slanted not only to training psychological consultants, but also toward assisting people to solve their own psychological problems and establish better human relations.

There will be a concert Monday evening, and the activities close Friday evening, Sept. 26, with dancing and entertainment in the school's recreation hall.

tells me that Doreen is out of her 'cast now and able to hobble around on crutches, though she still can't put her weight on that one leg yet for a while. She wasn't able to go back to school this fall with the others, but thanks to the splendid Torrance school system, she has a teacher at home so she won't fall behind, and will be able to join her sixth grade classmates at Torrance Elementary later in the year.

One of the nicest picnics of the late summer was the one hosted by Mrs. Annette Waddy of Middlebrook Rd. at Torrance Park last week honoring "just-weds" Hilda and Joe Verge. They were feted by co-workers at Harbor General Hospital.

The thrill that comes once in a lifetime was Steven Bucka Lew's recently. His grand mother decided that along with cousins Pam and Donna Ferlin, he could present the flag from his grandfather's casket to his Boy Scout troop, No. 219. His father, Rupert Bukalew, is a recently-named member of the troop committee.

This same Boy Scout troop recently made a tour of Northrop Aeronautical Institute in Hawthorne.

Speaking of Scouting, did you know that there is a new Girl Scout troop being formed at Torrance Elementary for girls 10 to 14 years of age. If you have a daughter who would like to become a Girl Scout, have her turn her name, address and age into Mr. Morton's office or contact me at Lomita 232-J. They then will be notified later when and where the first meeting will be. There is also a great need for a co-leader for this troop. Know anyone who might like the job? It's fun and most gratifying. It is not necessary to have had special training . . . that can be taken later, if you so wish.

Have you donated your blood within the past three months? If you haven't, why not do it at the next blood bank? It will be here in Torrance at the Civic Auditorium, Monday Oct. 6 from 3 to 7:30 p.m. For your appointment call Torrance 3447.

An evening of fun, games and prizes was held at Mrs. Thelma Setzer's. Not thinking about all the calories they were consuming, the girls enjoyed delicious refreshments of angel pie and coffee. Those who partook of the "out of this world" repast were Mesdames Millie Hines, Eileen Hardesty, Viola Goree, Lauretta Faust, Velma Lucas, Joyce Tucker, Kay Van Dalsen, Helen Bell, Betty Cochrane, Essie Ford, Joanne Stone, Margaret Rowe, Gladys Kellman, Ruth Morton, Charles Bales, Teo Cunningham, Doris Woods and Melissner.

All the neighbors are getting lots of enjoyment from looking at the pretty new green and white paint job at the Hampton house at 174 W. 236th St. Hubby John has been on vacation and has really showed results of his "working rest."

We're glad to hear that Bob Reid, also of 236th St., is out of the hospital and back to work. He had quite a siege, but now has everything under control and is feeling quite like himself again.

Marilyn Morehead celebrated her sixth birthday a couple of days late, but it was fun, anyhow, as she had 26 of her playmates and relatives in to share the festivities, ice cream, cracker jack, and birthday cake. All this took place last Sunday afternoon in the back yard of the Jim Morehead residence on Middlebrook Rd.

Other birthday wishes this week go to Susan Palumbo, who had her birthday on the 11th; to Mr. Jesse Combs and Gilbert de la Cruz, who shared the 13th as their important day; to Janice Trezise, who picked last Sunday the 14th for her day; to Sue Witz and Dick Oliver, noting Wednesday the 17th on the calendar; to Vernis Batty on the 18th, and to Susan Wise on the 19th.

Like style shows and playing cards? Well, if you do, there is to be a dessert garden party at the home of Mrs. Laura Felker, 1010 Beech Ave., Thursday, Sept. 25, at 12:30 p.m. It is the annual Garden Party sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the organization or at the door.
